Explanation of Responses:

- The reporting person entered into a "zero-cost collar" arrangement pursuant to which he wrote a covered call option and purchased a put option. Only one of the options can be in the money on the expiration date, at which time the in-the-money option will be exercised (and settled for cash) and the other option will expire. If neither option is in the money, both options will expire.
- The price received for the call option offset the price paid for the put option, with the effect that no premium was due on the transaction.
